EE Fine Art specialises in Eastern European contemporary and modern fine art

EE Fine Art has a new gallery space in Cobble Yard in the heart of Cambridge and to celebrate they're holding an exhibition featuring a variety of works from Eastern European artists who will be showing in more detail in the future.

The company, which was established in 2005, plans to hold sixteen exhibitions of both established and emerging artists throughout the year.

But EE Fine Art is about far more than simply exhibiting and selling pictures. Register online and add artists or artwork to your favourites list to be informed when the company acquires new works on those artists. This also entitles you to discounts at on-line previews.

And EE Fine Art also works with companies to help them brighten up their environment. Art is a great way to inspire employees, entertain customers and show clients that creativity is valued, as well as making a dull space attractive.

EE Fine Art has a range of high quality original paintings, photography, installations and prints.

The service begins with a free initial on-site consultation followed by extensive advice on the difficult process of choosing, positioning and hanging the right artwork. Framing and lighting can be organised when necessary alongside installation of the works. On completion, EE Fine Art will supply an inventory of the artwork and a photographic record.
